Swarm of Bees in Tree On Court House Lawn

THAT MAY NOT LOOK exactly like a swarm of bees (above) hanging from a limb of a tree on the Court House lawn near the fountain, but that's what it is. Because relatively few people ever had the opportunity to see a swarm of bees, it seemed like a good idea to take a picture of this one and print it in the Record-Herald. But, photographing a swarm of bees against the leafy background of the tree—and have the bee swarm show up for what it really is—was quite a job. Well, anyway, here it is. (Record-Herald photo)

A big swarm of honeybees arrived in the heart of the city Monday afternoon and clustered on a limb of a maple tree next to the fountain on the court house lawn. The swarm, larger than a gallon bucket, about 12 feet above the ground was fairly well sheltered but when the bees moved in, some of the loafers on the park benches promptly moved out. Others remained and were not molested by the bees.

A big swarm of bees on Sept. 20, is almost unheard of and if the bees find a home in a tree or building, they have little chance of storing honey sufficient to carry them through the winter. Thus, the swarm of honey makers faces possible starvation.

There is an old saying that a swarm of bees in May is worth a load of hay; a swarm in June is worth a silver spoon and if bees swarm in July, let them fly.

Bees rarely swarm in September and where the big swarm came from Monday is a mystery.

They came across Main and

Trucker Killed In Train Mishap

MATTOON, Ill. (AP)—A truck driver was killed and 28 train passengers were injured yesterday when a New York Central streamliner plowed into a truck at a crossing and went off the tracks.

The NYC's diesel-powered Southwestern Limited, bound for New York with an estimated 95 passengers, struck the truck and the second unit of its diesel engine was derailed. Nine cars following it careened from the tracks and came to a screeching, rending halt 200 yards beyond the crossing.

Memories of the old Toastmasters club here, the antecedent of today's Lions Club, were revived by a clipping sent to the Record-Herald describing the Camp Larson Officers Toastmasters Club of which Maj. John D. Louis, a New Holland native, is the new president.

Maj. Louis, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Louis of New Holland, was installed at impressive ceremonies.

The clipping reveals that "the remainder of the evening was spent on the regular program, including a good meal in pleasant surroundings, plenty of interesting conversation and relaxed atmosphere away from the trials and tribulations of everyday life and last but not least a chance to speak effectively by speaking to a group of men, who like yourself are learning and improving by doing."

An invitation was extended to those interested in an "opportunity to see for yourself the benefits of being a Toastmaster," according to the clipping Ladies night, it said, is once a month.

Western Allies Study French Arms Proposal

Future Of Germany In European Defense Setup Tied To Plan

LONDON (AP)—France's Western Allies took a long, cautious look today at her new plan to rearm West Germany.

There was no immediate official reaction to the proposals, outlined by French Premier Pierre Mendes-France yesterday in a speech before the European Consultative Assembly at Strasbourg.

They included tying West Germany in a tight European alliance that would limit the fighting forces of all member states and control their arms production.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said the French plan is being studied but no commitment would be made immediately. A few hours later the United States formally accepted Britain's invitation to attend the Sept. 28 London talks, called to thresh out a way to enlist West Germans in Western defense.

PRIME MINISTER Winston Churchill called his Cabinet to its regular weekly session today. The discussion was expected to center around France's plan and arrangements for the nine-power conference.

The French memorandum to interested governments giving full details of Mendes-France's proposals was still secret. The first British comment appeared in the influential, independent Times and the Conservative Daily Telegraph.

Both newspapers said the French premier had furnished at least the basis for possible agreement. But both expressed misgivings as to the extent of British military commitments in Europe. France might demand as the price for consenting to German rearmament.

The Times also questioned whether Britain would accept the loss of national sovereignty apparently inherent in the proposals to control the size of armed forces and armament production.

The French plan, put forward as a substitute for the defunct European Defense Community, is similar in many respects to proposals advocated recently by British Foreign Secretary Eden.

Both call for an expansion of the five-nation Brussels pact into an alliance of at least Britain, West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. Instead of a common army as the EDC plan proposed, members of the pact would rush immediately to the defense of any other partner attacked.

Although the full details of neither proposal have been made public, the chief difference seems to be in the method of controlling the size of armies and production of arms.

Angry Ohio Farm Delegation Raps Wheat Quota Penalty

COLUMBUS (AP)—Angered at what they termed "regimentation of the American farmer," 35 farmers have demanded they be allowed to market their above-quota wheat without paying government penalties of $1.12 a bushel.

The band yesterday marched into the office of the Ohio Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Service. They said none of them ever received federal loans nor subsidies, nor had they signed wheat quota cards in the 1954 wheat quota referendum.

They termed loans and subsidies "relief checks" and complained strongly of being addressed as "dear cooperators" in form letters from the Agriculture Department.

"We're not cooperators and should be addressed as farmers," one spokesman declared.

The group was headed by James Mannix of Greenville, who said he represented the independent farmers of Ohio. He said delegates represented 34 of the 88 counties in the state.

Mannix said he had been billed $357 for exceeding the wheat crop quota. He demanded that the government sue him and that the bill be referred to the U. S. district attorney.

Ohio farmers voted against the quotas in the 1954 wheat referendum, but it was approved nationally by farmers. It will affect next year's crops. The farmers voted on whether the government should limit the amount of wheat a farmer may market without penalty.

The 1953 referendum also saw approval by the nation's farmers, including Ohioans. It covers this year's yield.

The farm group met at a hotel and sent a 35-member delegation to D. T. Herrman, administrative officer of the Ohio ASC. Members of the group did not identify themselves although the leader did. Herrman said he recognized farmers from Union, Darke, Montgomery, Wayne, Knox and Columbiana counties.

Herrman said the farmers could market their wheat only if they paid penalties assessed and pointed out that only Congress could change the program.

Tests Made On Tract Here For Reservoir

Two outfits are now busy making test holes in the tract of land on the George Aills farm northwest of Washington C. H., for the 43-acre reservoir the Ohio Water Service Co. has proposed to augment the city's water supply.

First tests brought up clay to a depth of 30 feet and it was said to be the kind that would be "almost ideal for the bottom of an upground reservoir."

Sample picked up from the scene of the tests run from yellowish to blue clay, with a few pebbles included, but all of a type which would hold water.

The tests are being made by driving the test tubes into the earth and removing the cores.

Tests will run from 16 to 30 feet and dozens of the holes will be put down in the tests over the tract under lease.

Reading Plans Backed by PTA

City Council Holds Year's First Meet

The Parent-Teacher Association today was getting behind the program designed to place more emphasis on the teaching of reading in the Washington C. H. schools.

After the new tachistoscope had been explained and demonstrated by Supt. W. A. Smith at the Monday night meeting of the City PTA Council, the representatives of the five PTA units there agreed to lay the reading program before their own units and recommend support of it.

The tachistoscope is a device that fits on a film strip or slide projector and it is designed to improve the teaching of reading.

A proposal is to be made that each of the individual school PTA units make the purchase of a new and stronger projector for the school one of the year's projects.

Since the tachistoscope is an attachment for the projector, the more powerful projectors are recommended because they can be used without darkening the room.

It also was explained that the more powerful projectors would be more practical for carrying out the expanding visual education program, since they could be used for showing the film strips and slides related to other areas of education. The group was told, too, that a library of these educational film strips and slides is being built up by the city schools.

The more powerful projectors cost an estimated $135 each. Those now in use could be traded in, it was said.

At the conclusion of the demonstration of the tachistoscope, Supt. Smith introduced Dr. Ruth Teeters, first grade teacher at Sunnyside who explained "How We Teach Our Children To Read."

THE PTA COUNCIL meeting was held in what was the cafeteria of the high school before it was converted into class rooms to relieve crowded conditions.

Mrs. Warner Penrod, the president, conducted the brief business meeting. After the treasurer's report, which showed a balance of $245.53, had been given by Mrs. Marvin Rossmann, and Mrs. Hilbert Meyer had given the secretary's report, Mrs. Penrod introduced the presidents of the PTA units in the five elementary schools. They were Mrs. Robert Lytton of Eastside, Mrs. Truman Coulter of Rose Avenue, Leonard Korn of Central and Robert Sanderson of Cherry Hill. Mrs. Penrod is the Sunnyside president as well as the council president.

Mrs. Penrod also introduced the other representatives to the Council from the different units and announced the state PTA convention would be held at the Biltmore Hotel in Dayton Oct. 11-13.

The Council approved a proposal that it sponsor a magician show to raise money to carry on some of its projects. The motion was made by Mrs. Lytton and seconded by Mrs. Coulter. The decision was unanimous, but neither the date nor the place were settled.

On a motion by Korn and seconded by Leo Whiteside, principal of the Sunnyside School, the Council voted the Council president and school superintendent go over the calendar of events and then set the date for the show.

Hillsboro School Squabble Heads For U. S. Court Test

HILLSBORO (AP)—Hillsboro's racial school squabble apparently is going to be aired in the federal courts.

Attorney Russell L. Carter of Dayton today prepared a petition on behalf of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People asking the U. S. District Court to enjoin "segregation in the Hillsboro public school system."

Mrs. Miley O. Williamson, regional coordinator in Dayton for the NAACP, said "the Hillsboro action is designed as a test case for racial segregation in northern schools."

School officials in Hillsboro insist there is no segregation. And city officials said a rezoning of the city's school districts, keeping most Negroes out of previously all-White Webster and Washington grade schools, was on a "residential" rather than a racial basis. The rezoning took effect last week.

Carter says he represents five women whose children were denied admission to white schools. The recent Supreme Court decision barring segregation in schools gave the children the right to attend them, he said.

Integrated classes above the 6th grade were in effect even before the Supreme Court ruling. And, school board officials say, all classes will be mixed when new facilities are completed in the next few years.

Woman Drifts In Boat As Husband Dies

TOLEDO (AP)—For 40 hours after her husband died, Mrs. Iva B. Soncrant was alone with his body on rough Lake Erie in their disabled outboard motor boat.

"I prayed and I cried. Only the thought of my three sons kept me battling when the odds against me seemed so large," she said yesterday after fishermen found her 4 1/2 miles offshore.

Mrs. Soncrant said she and her husband, Joseph, 57, of Toledo, went fishing Saturday. The boat's motor stalled and Soncrant collapsed while trying to start it.

Mrs. Soncrant also was unable to start the motor and could not up the anchor which prevented the boat from drifting from its original position far offshore.

She said she did not realize Soncrant was dead for two hours. For 40 hours she tried unsuccessfully to attract passing boats with screams and a piece of her skirt used as a flag.

She had to keep bailing water from waves out of her boat to keep it from foundering.

"One of my sons is only 20, and I thought he needed me now that his father is gone," she said, "so I kept praying and pumping . . ."

Ex-Mate Blamed For Red Tieup

DAYTON (AP)—A woman who said her former husband probably paid her dues in the Communist Party without her knowledge yesterday pleaded guilty to falsely denying she was a Red.

But, Mrs. Wilma Payne Bond told federal court:

"I don't even know what a Communist is."

Judge Lester L. Cecil called for a pre-sentence examination after he said Mrs. Bond's statements indicated she may not be guilty of the charge.

The former husband was named last week by Arthur Strunk, FBI informant, as a Communist. Strunk testified before a subcommittee of the House UnAmerican Activities Committee.

Cool Weather Hits Mid-U.S.

CHICAGO (AP)—It was cool and rainy over wide areas in the west and midcontinent today while summer weather continued over most of the south and east.

Temperatures dropped below freezing in sections of Montana and the western Dakotas, the center of the cold air mass. The chilly air extended to Chicago and southward into Kansas.

ents sat down last night with the county board of education to discuss the integration of Negro and white students while at nearby Seth picketing students brought the problem to a head.

From 15 to 20 student pickets roamed in front of Sherman High School in Seth in protest over the enrollment of three Negroes in the student body of about 700.

The Madison meeting followed a protest session in the county courthouse by some 300 people fighting the admission of 18 Negro parttime students at Scott High School. No decision was announced by the county board.

In Milford, Del., the community's two public schools, were closed again today in the face of telephoned threats of violence if 11 Negro children were allowed to attend classes in the white high school.

Dr. Raymond C. Cobbs, superintendent of the Milford schools, had announced earlier that the schools would open at 9 a. m. today after closing yesterday.

However, Dr. Cobbs issued a statement shortly after 8 a. m. this

15 Sky Pilots Pray As They 'Chute Safely

NEWELL, Calif. (AP)—Praying as they parachuted in shirtsleeves, 15 chaplains landed safely minutes before their disabled Air Force C-46 plane crashed and burned yesterday. The three crewmen also bailed out successfully.

"You can be sure there was plenty of praying going on," said the Rev. Loris R. Ellett of Lawndale, Calif., an Air Force reserve colonel.

"This was an occasion when, doubly, we were practicing what we preach; namely, prayer," said the Rev. Neville E. Carlson of Fillmore, Calif.

"The Lord was with us in many ways, even to the fact that the fire in one engine was on the right side of the plane and the door through which we jumped was on the left," said the Rev. Bertil Von Norman of West Hollywood.

The group of Civil Air Patrol chaplains from Southern California left Burbank at 3:30 p. m. PDT in the C-46, bound for a regional CAP chaplains' conference at Sacramento scheduled for last night and today.

Minutes after the departure, smoke began trailing from the C-46. Vibration was felt in the ship, then the right engine caught fire.

As crewmen carried out the pilot's instructions to the chaplains to bail out at about 3,000 feet, the right engine fell away. Rev. Mr. Von Norman, a CAP major, was credited by his colleagues with calm heroism as he helped the chaplains adjust their "chutes and shepherded them out the door. He was the last chaplain to bail out. The crew followed.

Fight Over Red China Role Seen Delaying U. N. Work

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—A new fight over anticipated demands to seat Red China threatened today to delay organization of the ninth United Nations General Assembly.

Russia, India and some other Asian countries were expected to launch the new struggle to replace the Chinese Nationalists with Peiping representatives shortly after the session's formal opening this afternoon.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles was on hand to lead the campaign for keeping up the bars against the Chinese Reds. The United States, backed by Britain, planned to ask the Assembly to shelve the question until the end of the year. The same strategy was used last year to keep Peiping out.

Both the Americans and the British were confident of a clear winning majority. To strengthen their case, U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. in a weekend statement charged the Chinese Communists with 39 attacks in the morning in which he said the schools will be closed until further notice "in the interest of the safety of all the children."

Dr. Cobbs declined to elaborate on his statement as tension mounted in this quiet southeastern Delaware community.

THE SITUATION developed yesterday when the Milford school board closed the schools after learning of a protest march planned by white supremacy advocates.

The Milford situation developed over the weekend when more than 1,500 persons gathered at the American Legion Hall in the center of this primarily agricultural community to hear a discussion in the integration problem.

The schools here had opened on Sept. 7, with both white and Negro pupils attending classes at the Milford High School.

Judge Hearing Defiance Fuss

Methodist Squabble Enters Second Day

DEFIANCE (AP)—Methodist Church leaders, fighting to regain control of St. Paul's Methodist Church here are appearing in common pleas court here seeking a permanent injunction aimed at ridding the church of its former minister. The hearing entered its second day today.

The board of trustees of the Ohio Methodist Conference has asked a permanent injunction against Joseph C. Richards. They want him to get out of the parsonage and turn the church keys over to the new minister, The Rev. Robert B. Weaver, assigned here from Circleville.

A main witness yesterday was Bishop Richard C. Raines of the Indianapolis area. He said a resident bishop has the power to appoint a new minister despite opinions of the local church.

Richards quit the ministry after asserting Ohio Area Bishop Hazen G. Werner assigned him a new pastorate at a $4,000-a-year salary cut. Most members of the local church official board supported Richards in the dispute.

The church board of trustees, of which Richards is a member, appointed the embattled ex-minister as church business manager, given use of the parsonage and paid the salary ordinarily given the minister.

A TEMPORARY injunction, barring Richards from interfering with religious duties of Rev. Mr. Weaver, was issued by the court last month. Rev. Mr. Weaver rented a house here pending outcome of the hearing.

Both Bishop Werner and Joseph Richards are expected to testify later in the hearing.

Also testifying yesterday were Dr. Warren Winant, superintendent of the Columbus district and Dr. Kenneth Leary of Van Wert, Defiance district superintendent.

Judge Eugene McNeill of Van Wert was assigned the case after Judge H. B. Mulholland stepped aside. Judge Mulholland is an official of St. Paul's Church.

Mystery Deepens In Shotgun Blast

Sheriff Orland Hays is still probing the mysterious shooting at the home of Roger (Tom) Exline, on Route 70 near the Fayette-Madison County line Friday night. Someone fired a shotgun through an upstairs window, barely missing Exline who had just passed the window, the sheriff was told by Exline.

It was found that 12 Barred Rock hens had been stolen from the Exline house the night of the shooting. A single barreled shotgun that belonged to Exline is believed to have been used in the shooting. It was found in the yard near the house.

Exline told Sheriff Hays he had been squirrel hunting and had left the shotgun in a pickup truck. The gun has been sent to the finger print office at the London prison farm, in an effort to obtain finger prints other than those made by Exline in handling the gun while hunting.

Faith Labeled As True Cure For Any War

President Urges All To Participate In Divine Call Tomorrow

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower appealed today to the people of Russia and other Iron Curtain countries to join Americans tomorrow in a day of prayer for world peace as "the true cure" for war-breeding tensions.

In a message beamed to the Soviet Union and its satellites over the powerful radio facilities of the Voice of America, the President said:

"May the world be ringed with an act of faith so strong as to annihilate the cruel, artificial barriers erected by little men between the people who seek peace on earth through the Divine Spirit."

Voice of America transmitters began broadcasting Eisenhower's appeal worldwide at 6 a. m. today with special emphasis on reaching behind the Iron Curtain.

The National Day of Prayer for Peace being observed in the United States tomorrow was provided for in a resolution passed by Congress and approved by the President.

EISENHOWER himself will attend chapel services at Lowry Air Force Base here tomorrow morning to pray for peace.

Here is the text of the President's new plea directed particularly to the peoples of the Iron Curtain nations:

"In common with religious people everywhere, we in America know that the true cure for the tensions that threaten and too often produce war lies not in guns and bombs but in the spirits and minds of men. We are firm in the belief that faith is the mightiest force that man has at his command."

"On September 22nd we are therefore observing, with an act of faith, a National Day of Prayer. Throughout the United States of America, whatever our ancestry, whatever our religious affiliation, we shall offer simultaneously to the Almighty our personal prayers for the devotion, wisdom and stamina to work unceasingly for a just and lasting peace for all mankind."

"I most earnestly hope that men and women, boys and girls all over the world will join with us that day in that act of faith. May the many millions of people shut away from contact and communion with peoples of the free world join their prayers with ours."

"May the world be ringed with an act of faith so strong as to annihilate the cruel, artificial barriers erected by little men between the peoples who seek peace on earth through the Divine Spirit."

WHS Group Is Back From New York City

Fayette County's emissaries of civic promotion and good will today were back from New York where they took part in the "Have A Heart" show and saw some of the sights of the world's most fabulous city.

It may have cost the seven who went from here more than $2,000 to go on the expedition to win $106, but they said after they got back that the experience was worth what it cost.

The $106 they won as the prize of the quiz show is to be put into a TV for Mt. Logan Sanatorium they said.

Some went by plane and some by train to put on the program Friday night.

The program was two-fold in its objectives: (1) to win some money for charity and (2) promote the home town of the participants.

For the quiz Auditor Uric Acton and Mrs. Elizabeth Hendrix Davidson teamed up to win $26. Mrs. Acton and Mrs. Eloise Johnson, the county recorder, teamed up to win $30; the team of Miss Faye Nelson and George Baker won $20 and Miss Laurann Beard won $20 and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Beard, and Charles Campbell, a native of Washington C. H. who now lives in New York, won $30 for the fund.

THE CIVIC promotion came before the start of the quiz when Master of Ceremonies John Reed King interviewed Mrs. Davidson so she could tell the listening world something about Fayette County and Washington C. H. Mrs. Davidson set up the whole thing.

While in New York the group visited the United Nations headquarters; took in the Broadway show "Can Can," by Cole Porter; Shopped and had lunch in Chinatown; took a 3-hour boat trip around Manhattan Island (New York City); had dinner at Jack Dempsey's Restaurant where they were photographed; had dinner at Lindy's, went shopping down famous Fifth Avenue; attended Dr.

Norman Vincent Peal's marble Collegiate Church Sunday (Dr. Peale was born in Bowersville in Clinton County) had lunch at the Taft Hotel where Vincent Lopez orchestra was playing and saw the Ice Capades in Madison Square Garden.

The last of the group got back home Monday evening.

County Vets Snub New G.I. Bill

Fayette County veterans have not rushed to take advantage of new provisions in the Korean GI bill, according to Bernard Witherspoon of the Soldiers' Relief office here.

The new law provides an additional year for veterans discharged after Aug. 20, 1951 to begin training under the GI bill. Formerly, time ran out on Aug. 20 of this year.

But according to Witherspoon, there has been no increase in the number of veterans signing up for training since the new law was passed. "Off hand," he said, "I can't think of a single veteran signing up for training here who wasn't eligible under the old law."

About 350 men from the county served in the Korean war, Witherspoon estimated. However, a much smaller percentage has applied for GI training, he said, than applied after World War II.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (P)—Andrei Vishinsky can be relied on to make as much trouble as possible among the Western Allies in the United Nations General Assembly which opens its ninth regular session today in New York.

Since the Allies already are having plenty of trouble on their own, centered around the problem of rearming West Germany, anything Vishinsky accomplishes in the way of dissension will be just extra gravy for the Russians.

Vishinsky, who keeps coming back as Russia's delegate to the U.N., no doubt will try to split the United States a little further from its friends on the subject of Red China by making a pitch to get the Communist Chinese seated in the world organization and the Nationalist Chinese ousted.

The British recognize the Communists as the legitimate government of China. The United States is tied to the Nationalist Chinese on Formosa.

But, since the British will go along for postponement for a while, the United States should be able to block U.N. action on Red China this year. Sooner or later, perhaps in 1955, it must face a showdown.

Vishinsky will probably talk disarmament again, but not with a plan this country would accept. The United States may offer an extension of President Eisenhower's proposal of last year for a world pool of atomic materials for peace.

And before it's over this U.N. session may disclose how much, if any, this country's influence among its friends has declined. But meanwhile the major problem of this country and its friends will be in Europe: Germany.

After addressing the U.N., Secretary of State Dulles hopes to leave Saturday for a London conference called for next Tuesday by British Foreign Secretary Eden. Nine Western powers will discuss letting the Germans have guns again. Those attending will be the United States, Britain, France, Canada, Italy, West Germany, and the three Benelux countries—Belgium, Netherlands, and Luxembourg.

In mid-October the United States and the other nations in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), will meet in Paris to discuss the same problem. No solution is in sight yet.

The United States and Britain wanted to see a rearmament Germany in a single European army with the French, Italians and the Benelux countries.

The Allies had agreed that once the single army was created and Germany became a part of it, Germany would regain her sovereignty, which she doesn't have now. The United States, Britain, and France, with their occupation troops in Germany, keep their thumb on the government of Chancellor Adenauer.

The French stalled for two years, dreading the thought of a rearmament Germany and fearing the Germans eventually would control a single army. Finally the French Assembly scuttled the whole idea. Western defense plans were shot to pieces. Adenauer began demanding full sovereignty.

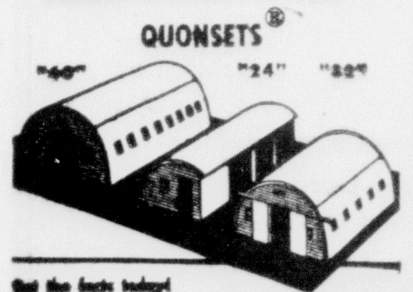

Now Western officials are seeking a plan on which all can agree for restoring arms and sovereignty to Germany. Here are some of the main questions which reveal the Allies' dilemma:

Should Germany have full sovereignty? If she's rearmament should there be strict controls on how much rearming she does? Should there be limits on how much rearming any of the Allies can do? Will Britain and the United States make promises to France that they will never let the Germans get into a position of attacking or dominating France?

Only one thing is clear: Western defenses against Russia are

People Here To Stay Even With Robots

Experts Say Humans To Work Less, Produce More With Machines

NEW YORK (P)—With the rapid growth of automation in which a robotlike machine replaces 100 or 200 workers at a particular chore, are people here to stay?

Emphatically yes, say the experts in the field of automation—automatic controls in industry and business.

"I think the result will be that people will work less time and produce more goods and services," says John Diebold, consultant on automatic controls to several firms.

Diebold, editor of the magazine "Automatic Control," forecasts that the effects of automation will be gradual rather than drastic and says "we may start having three-day weekends which in turn would increase employment."

Admiral Corp. of Chicago a few days ago began operation of equipment that automatically assembles parts equivalent to half of a television set chassis in a matter of seconds. Although it performs functions formerly requiring rows of assembly line workers, John B. Huarisa, executive vice president of Admiral, says it hasn't thrown people out of jobs. To the contrary, because of the increase in production, "It has been necessary to hire more women employees to complete the final hand assembly of the printed circuit boards from the automation line."

Automation through use of electronic computer and control systems "will relieve man from the more routine and repetitive mental operations of the civilian economy," says Dr. M. J. Kelly, president of Bell Telephone Laboratories.

He terms automation probably the century's greatest contribution to the reduction of man's burden.

Henry F. Dever, president of the Brown Instruments division of Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co., says automation already has made some products available that we wouldn't otherwise have, and will do so in the future.

"Workers themselves long ago had the choice of doing without the products we now take for granted in our twentieth century mode of living," he declares. "They decided they did want these things, and the machines to make them were introduced."

"Those of you who have foreboding about this trend to auto-

Two Sentenced to State Reformatory

Judge John P. Case sentenced two men to the state reformatory at Mansfield Monday afternoon and they were to be taken to that institution Tuesday by Sheriff Orlando Hays.

They were Fred Evans and James L. Smalley, the latter being sent for forging a check for $20 on J. B. Cline.

Evans was sent up for giving a check for $40 without funds in the bank, and it was one of numerous similar offenses committed by Evans, who lost one leg in the last world war.

Highly Mobile Army Planned

ST. LOUIS (P)—Army Secretary Stevens, citing the need for "maximum mobility" of fighting forces in this atomic age, says the Army is on the threshold of "battlefield mobility unparalleled in military history."

Stevens, in a speech before the St. Louis Chapter of the National Defense Transportation Assn., yesterday, said:

"We are moving into an era in which railroad cars will be high-balled into a port, rolled into specially designed ships and at the end of the sea voyage returned to land rails."

mation, thinking perhaps it will obsolete the human unskilled, is a magnificently sensitive and adaptable machine. He performs sensing, safety and other operations which it is often difficult to do automatically.

"For example when the Atomic Energy Commission set out to devise a machine to uncork a bottle, pour out some of the contents, recork the bottle and replace it on its shelf, it faced an expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars and hours of design time."

Diebold says much of the automation development will go into new fields such as long range weather forecasting, business forecasts, business controls and analysis heretofore impractical, and many others.

George M. Muschamp, Minneapolis - Honeywell vice president, sums up the problem this way:

"You don't buy your wife a washing machine because you are trying to get rid of her, but because you want more of her company when she isn't bushed from bending over a washboard."

Newark Cancer Battler Dies

NEWARK (P)—For many years, Mrs. Sam Hollar suffered from cancer, but she refused to lie down and wait for death.

Instead, she became active in the Licking County chapter of the American Cancer Society. She became its executive secretary.

She worked long hours supporting the society's drive for the research funds which eventually may produce a cancer cure. She knew the research never could help her.

A year ago, her physician told her death was near, possibly two months away. But she kept on working.

Yesterday, Mrs. Hollar died.

Birds Dimming House Lights

ROWLEY, Mass. (P)—The trouble Russell Worthy has with house lights since the recent hurricanes is strictly from the birds.

"Hundreds of starlings are using the electric line as their favorite roosting place," he said yesterday. "The wire sags under their weight and every time they pounce on it, the lights flicker and dim through the house."

How Much Are You Working For Government?

There are scores of people in Fayette County who are spending at least one day of their labors out of every three or four, working for the government but are not on government salary.

This is true in nearly every sizable community and will continue to be true, despite the efforts of the Eisenhower administration and a majority in Congress to reduce taxes by a gradual process without causing a disruption of the national economy.

By no means should this condition be blamed on the present national administration and Congress. Approximately 20 years of New Deal and Fair Deal reckless spending, expansion of payrolls and waste together with corruption and graft among far too large a number of employees in high places because of past government easy going methods, has led us to the present condition which it takes time to clear up and readjust.

Recently a public expenditure survey defined a taxpayer as "one who doesn't have to pass a civil service exam to work for the government."

The average man in the $4,500 bracket works approximately one day in every three to earn tax money alone! If he is employed on the usual 40-hour, five-day week basis, he works more hours to pay his taxes than he does to meet most of his housing and clothing needs.

That's a bleak picture. But a ray of sunlight is found in the fact that the new federal budget marks a reduction from its predecessors—and that the tax cuts proposed by the administration and authorized by Congress have provided us with some measure of relief.

Now the hope is that larger cuts in both spending and taxes will be possible in the future. Practically everyone, in and out of government, wants that. But the goal will be impossible of attainment unless it is honestly supported by the public-at-large.

That means we must do much more than just advocate economy as a vague general principle. We must be willing to approve economy moves when they directly affect us—not the other fellow only.

Long ago it was said that the people get the kind of government they deserve, and that goes for fiscal affairs as well as everything else.

Dewey's Future

The announcement last week by Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York that he would not be a candidate "for any political office this year" has the politicians guessing. They are wondering if the "this year" phrase means Dewey may want to try for the Republican nomination for President again, should General Eisenhower decide to bow out in 1956.

Orchids For The Substitute Teacher

By Saul Pett

(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—With a deep bow to their courage and a prayer for their peace of mind, this little tribute is dedicated to those unsung heroes who leave the safety of their homes and knowingly walk into an ambush. They are the substitute school teachers.

A friend of ours subbed in the sixth grade the other day. The class tuttered. Hours later she discovered the cause—a note passed from conspirator to conspirator. It said:

"What dunk did they dig this one up from?"

Most substitute teachers these days are housewives. It's been years since they taught, even longer since they went to teachers college. Being rusty and being temporary, they are naturally unsure of themselves. The children, of course, are a big help.

"The little darlings," said our friend, "are just waiting to trick you, to taunt, to smirk, titter, connive against, confuse—particularly to confuse—to undermine, to have fun with, to exploit—particularly to exploit."

"They put out feelers. They keep testing you for weak spots to see how much they can get away with. The pressure is always on. And the worst thing you can do is to appear uncertain. That opens the floodgates."

While the sub is worrying about how she looks and whether the mob will like her, she reaches into the regular teacher's desk, feeling like an intruder.

er. She pulls out the seating plan. Ordinarily, the troublemakers are separated. Today, she finds things changed. But each one of the sweet little liars insists that's his regular seat.

The sub writes on the blackboard. A boy in the back asks her to rewrite the fourth word. Another asks about the last word. Teacher begins to worry that her handwriting has gone to pot. Another request for a rewrite. Then a giggle. Then teacher catches on.

In the lower grades, especially, kids are contradictory. They love to break the rules. They also love to heckle the sub for not following the rules.

One day in the first grade, our friend passed out lined paper for a spelling test. A girl asked, "Should we fold the paper down the middle?" The sub studied the permanent study plan for the answer. It wasn't there.

Being cautious in her ignorance, she said brightly, "Well, how do you usually do it?"

Suddenly bedlam. Thirty hands wave wildly. Thirty throats shout 30 different versions. And, working quietly under the diversionary storm, Johnny near the window kicks Walter in the shins. Walter tries a headlock on Tommy and Tommy innocently brushes Helen's gym shoes off her desk.

The first grade has a different "king and queen" every week. As royalty, they get first place in the recess line and lead the morning prayer and pledge to the flag.

One day the sub looked up from her desk and there, with his chin in his hands and his eyes glum, was a boy staring from a distance of nine inches.

"What's the matter, Harold?"

"I'm a silly king."

"What gave you that idea?"

"Sharon said so."

"I think you're a fine king."

Would you like to draw another picture?"

"No. I think I'll talk to the pollywogs."

And with that, the solemn king went to the back of the room, pressed his nose up against the fish tank and did talk to the pollywogs.

In the second grade, they have a "show and tell" period in which the kids display their proudest possessions. A girl showed a new doll. A boy exhibited a football. Another boy quietly reached into his pocket and displayed a live garter snake.

A few minutes later, trying to overcome a lull, the sub asked another young citizen where he got his new fire engine. The boy, whose father is one of the town's most prosperous merchants, answered like a machinegun.

"My father gave it to me. He got it out of a garbage can. We get everything out of garbage cans. We get food out of garbage cans and clothes and . . ."

This time teacher was saved by the recess bell.

Diet and Health Symptoms of Anemia Should Get Attention

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Many people are functioning below their best level because they are living with the disorder known as anemia. It is a disease with a seriously decreased amount of hemoglobin, an iron containing pigment, in the blood; there may also be a lack of the red blood cells that carry the hemoglobin.

Various Causes

Anemia can be caused by many things. One of the common causes is probably blood loss, such as may occur with bleeding ulcers or bleeding from the bowel or female organs.

However, anemia may quite often also be due to an insufficient production of the red blood cells and hemoglobin. This may be caused in turn by lack in the diet of certain factors necessary for the proper production of blood. At times some tumors and growths may prevent proper blood production.

Warning Signs

Certain parts of the body readily reveal anemia. A pale looking skin and a pale color to the lining membrane of the mouth, nose and the eyelids may be signs of anemia. A paleness of the fingernails can also be an indication of anemia.

The creases or skin lines in the palm of the hand normally have a bright pink color. When this coloring is lost it indicates a severe anemia condition.

Other Symptoms

Other symptoms which may be present are shortness of breath, dizziness, and fatigue.

Anyone with anemia should have a complete examination by a physician in order to determine the cause so that proper treatment may be instituted.

Air Force Pilot Hurt In Landing

POMEROY (AP)—An Air Force training plane made a crash landing on a stretch of Ohio River bottom land about a mile south of here last night.

The pilot was identified as Lt. Col. John P. Wells, 39, of Arlington, Va. The state patrol said he was admitted to a hospital here in serious condition with a fracture of the spine.

Wells reportedly was flying on a beam from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton. Personnel at an aircraft control warning station near Charleston, W. Va., said Wells was flying from Texas.

Only Ike and Pope Can Save Italy

By Ray Tucker

NAPLES—Only vast American economic aid and the tremendous influence of the Vatican on devout Italian women will keep this country from installing a pro-Communist government within the next few years. Poverty unimaginable to Americans, living side by side with medieval wealth and display, makes Italy the most fertile soil in Europe for the Reds.

Now that France has rejected the European Defense Community treaty, Moscow has intensified its anti-American propaganda here. Italian Reds stage nightly rallies in the wretchedly poor agricultural areas that stretch from here to the toe of the peninsula. The walls of homes, business houses and factories are plastered with posters, rejoicing over the "death of EDC" as an "act of liberation." The Kremlin seeks to prevent Italian ratification from offsetting the French debacle.

The Communies' principal seat of power used to be in the Northern industrial cities—Milan, Turin, Verona—and they are still strong there. It was the series of strikes and government paralysis, precipitated by the Reds in the North, that led Mussolini to march on Rome in 1923, and establish his own dictatorship. Industrial improvement and U. S. help has cut down Communist strength here, although they polled 23.5 per cent of the vote in recent elections. Their maximum was 23.9 in 1946.

RED GAINS—In the section south of Naples, however, where living standards are notoriously low, the Communists have registered sensational gains. Their 1946 figure of 11.6 per cent has increased to 21.75 per cent. In Sardinia, it has jumped to 21.2 from 12.5. It has tripled in Sicily, rising from 7.9 to 21.8 per cent.

Meanwhile, the rightists, anti-Communist parties—Premier Scelba's Christian Democrats, the Monarchists, neo-Fascists and lesser groups—remain almost stationary in voting strength. Since that critical year of 1946, when former President Truman and the Pope pooled forces to repel Red efforts to obtain complete control of this key, Mediterranean nation, the conservative groups have raised their 1946 batting average of 20.8 to only 21.8 per cent. In local August elections, held after Russia's recent diplomatic victories, and involving more than 500,000 farmers, the Reds rang up the alarming total of 38.5 per cent of the popular vote.

Anti-Communist leaders advocate formation of a "national bloc" to combat the rising Red tide. It would consist of liberals, conservatives, Royalists and Premier Scelba's Christian Democrats. Such a combination would control about 60 per cent of the popular vote and of the seats in parliament. It would insure a stable government pending forthcoming conferences on revision of NATO, EDC and the Mediterranean Defense Organization.

CONCERN—The mere suggestion of such a political coalition, in view of the fierceness of factional strife in Italy, reflects the serious concern over the Communist menace from the Alps to the toe pointing to North Africa. But so far the Scelba government has rejected the unity compromise.

It appears to be the only solution, in the opinion of Anglo-American diplomats. It looks as if President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill may have to apply a bit of economic pressure here, along with help from the Vatican's far more experienced diplomats.

The Red advances in this area have an especially threatening and prophetic character because Rome has concentrated major reconstruction efforts in the South since World War II. More than $1 billion has been spent or appropriated for land reform, redistribution of great estates among the peasants, and for general economic development and rehabilitation. There has been some progress, but living conditions are still pitifully low.

Whether the two great, anti-Red and conservative leaders, President Eisenhower and the Pope, can prevent Italy's surrender to Moscow may be decided within the next few months. As of today, it is only an even bet.

4 Ohioans To Be Cited For Books

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohioana Library Assn. has announced the 1954 book award winners.

The awards, for the best books written by Ohioans in 1953, will be presented at the annual meeting here Oct. 9.

In religion, the award goes to Dr. Roger L. Shinn, member of the Vanderbilt University faculty and former chairman of the department of philosophy and religion at Heidelberg College, for his "Christianity and the Problem of History." He was born in Montgomery County.

Miss Bertha C. Anderson won the award for the best juvenile book, "Tinker's Tim and the Witches." The book was written at her home in Piqua where she was born.

No award was made this year in fiction.

Winning authors and some 50 other Ohio writers are expected to attend the annual luncheon. Speakers will include Milton Caniff, famed cartoonist and a native of Hillsboro.

And now a magnificent symbol of it all, the steeple of the Old North Church, has toppled over. Symbols must not be permitted to topple. The Chinese believe that when a pagoda is blown away by an unfriendly wind, the forces of evil are upon them. And it is not an unkindly superstition because it means that the husbandry of the nation has been inadequate and careless and that the gods are displeased.

Governor Herter has accepted the chairmanship of the committee to rebuild that steeple. This symbol of the birth of our nation, of powerful initiative and magnificent courage, should not be forgotten. It should be built strong to stand as the beacon that it was.

Mighty Warship Nearly Finished

Big Aircraft Carrier
Fifth of Mile Long

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
WASHINGTON — The world's mightiest warship, the USS Forrestal, is finally nearly completion after three years of planning and work.

If all goes according to plan, the great aircraft carrier, almost one-fifth of a mile long, will be launched later this year, probably in autumn, at Newport News, Va.

In a day when many believe the atom and hydrogen bombs have made warships obsolete, the United States is exhibiting its confidence in its Navy by investing $218 million in this mammoth ship.

The Forrestal, named for the late James Forrestal, first secretary of Defense and former secretary of the Navy, is the first of three similar ships being constructed. Work on the second, the USS Saratoga, is underway at Brooklyn at an estimated cost of $209,700,000. The third, still unnamed, will be built at Newport News for $117,750,000.

In all, the investment in the three aircraft carriers will amount to approximately $545 million, not including the cost of their complement of high-priced planes and armaments.

THE NAVY believes it is a good investment, despite the A-bomb and the H-bomb. The ships will be so ringed with protective devices and guardian vessels that the Navy doesn't think any attacking plane will be able to get within striking range.

"The Forrestal," says the Navy, "with its fighter aircraft, ship-board anti-aircraft batteries, high maneuverability and resistance to damage, plus the fire power of the cruisers and destroyers in its task force, will present one of the most highly defended and elusive targets an enemy could attack."

The Forrestal is being built with an eye to the future. All types of naval carrier aircraft now operating or on the drawing boards will be able to operate from and be serviced by the heavier, faster jet aircraft still to come.

The size of the Forrestal somewhat staggers the imagination. If stood upright, it would reach the 77th floor of the 102-story Empire State building. Its 1,040 feet is only six feet less than the height of the Chrysler building in New York.

It will, of course, be the longest warship in the world. It will displace 59,650 tons. More than 52,000 tons of structural steel will go into the giant vessel. The Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company, which is constructing the ship for the Navy, estimates that 6,500 design plans were drawn up for the work.

CONTRACT for the vessel was let July 14, 1951. The keel was laid July 14, 1952.

The ship was originally to have been built as a flush deck carrier with a retractable island and hinged stacks designed to give no projection above the flight deck for the purpose of giving incoming planes the greatest landing area possible.

Subsequently, however, new developments resulted in a change of plans. It was decided to install a canted, or angled deck. This is the concept on which the planes, in landing, instead of landing down the center of the flight deck or in a fore or aft line, land at a slight angle or eight to 10 degrees from the centerline.

Thus, when landing at this angle, should a plane fail to engage an arresting gear wire or for any other reason have a bad landing, the pilot can gun his plane, pick up his flying speed, and fly off at this angle without the danger of hitting planes which have already landed and have been parked forward on the flight deck.

America's new Queen of the Sea is expected to join the active fleet some time in 1955. After she is launched, the finishing touches will be put to the vessel, she will be taken on her shakedown cruise, and then she will be formally taken over by the Navy.

Plants in foreign countries are maintained by 27 Connecticut firms.

Sohio Research brings you

Sohio BORON Gasoline

World's First Boron* Gasoline a great new motor fuel discovery!

Once in a very great while, there comes to an industry a discovery that thrusts aside the limitations of the past and reveals unexpected new horizons.

In the automotive field such discoveries were the self-starter, the pneumatic tire, the all-steel body, the automatic transmission. In the chemical industry, it was the development of plastics. In aviation it was jet propulsion.

Now such advancement has come to the petroleum field. Today, Boron Gasoline takes its place with other such important steps as the discovery of tetraethyl lead and the invention of catalytic refining.

Boron Gasoline is a discovery that makes obsolete even the finest of today's motor fuels, including the highest-rated gasoline sold in Ohio—Sohio's previous premium grade!

The story of this new kind of gasoline begins more than four years ago. Sohio scientists had then found that important engine benefits would be available if the element boron could be made usable in motor fuel. Early this year they solved the last problem; Boron Supreme Gasoline is now a reality—available at every Sohio station.

Aviation Anti-Knock Fluid

While boron alone is startling news in gasoline research, it is not the end of the story! For many years, aviation gasoline has been the symbol of highest power and highest quality in petroleum fuel. A large contributor to this quality is the special, expensive aviation anti-knock fluid. In new Boron Supreme, Sohio makes this aviation anti-knock fluid available to motorists for the first time anywhere: contributing to the exceptionally high-test rating of this gasoline.

The third important difference in Sohio Boron Gasoline is a completely new, cleaner-burning hydrocarbon formula. This basic change was made possible by Sohio's investment of many millions of dollars in the most modern refinery facilities.

The effects of the boron discovery, the aviation anti-knock fluid and the new formula have been tested in the laboratory, on the road, and in day-to-day driving. Boron Gasoline has been run ten times around the world on the turnpike. Its beneficial effect on engines has been checked by more than 32,000 laboratory observations. Sohioans have used it in their own cars. And, finally, 1309 Ohio drivers just like yourself agreed to use it and report their experiences.

Proved Longer Mileage— Improved Engine Health

In 240,000 miles of turnpike testing in all kinds of cars, Sohio Boron Supreme Gasoline gave 16 more miles per tankful than non-boron premium fuels. Boron Gasoline provides a new way to liberate power in engines; gives a mileage improvement greater than any we have been able to make by conventional refining.

In the most precise laboratory measurements of engines that had been run tens of thousands of miles on the road, Boron Supreme Gasoline was found to reduce piston ring wear by 45%, and to lengthen valve life and efficiency by thousands of miles. Other tests showed that Boron Gasoline improved combustion smoothness by 88% in critical engines.

2 of 3 Users Report Immediate Performance Improvement

The 1309 Ohio drivers were told only that they were using a new kind of motor fuel, with no hint of what to look for.

Two out of three reporting on their experiences said they noticed immediate improvement in power, in pick-up, or in smoothness. Many said they noted the increased mileage. And by far the great majority—including those who regularly used competitive gasolines—said they wished to continue using this new gasoline when it became available.

During the past year, there has been a great deal of enthusiastic gasoline advertising, with confusion resulting for much of the public. In the development and offering of Boron Supreme Gasoline, we have felt any claims we make for it ought to be matched by actual reports on its performance from people who tried it. Reading hundreds of these reports confirms what our own road and laboratory tests had already told us—Boron Gasoline is a truly significant discovery in motor fuel, with important new benefits for you and for every driver.

You will probably make a gasoline purchase sometime during the next week. When you do, make that purchase a tankful of Boron Supreme Gasoline... for a new experience in engine performance.

What Makes Some People Wake at Same Hour Daily?

Editor's Note: Following is the second in a series of five articles reporting on experiments by scientists trying to find answers to many of the mysteries of what makes man tick.

By Alton L. Blakeslee
Associated Press Science Reporter
WOODS HOLE, Mass. (AP)—Mysterious "clocks" operating in living things are a challenge to some of the scientists at the Marine Biological Laboratory here.

Certain humans can "set mental clocks" to waken at a certain time of morning. How do their clocks work?

Many kinds of living things behave as though regulated by inner or biological clocks ticking off time with amazing accuracy.

Take fiddler crabs, the inch-long ones named because of their fiddle-holding shape. They are being studied by Dr. Frank A. Brown Jr., Northwestern University, who spends his summers here.

At dawn or just before they turn dark in color, the better to run on dark beaches where they live. At night they turn pearly-gray in color. Is it just a response to sunlight or lack of it?

No, Dr. Brown finds, for if the crabs are kept in a photographic dark room, under a steady amount of light and temperature, they will still change color at dawn and dusk, telling time as well as a man-made clock.

The crabs respond to tides, too, turning darkest at low tide. Even in the closed room they will change color according to actual high and low tides on the beaches where they once lived. They are perfect tide charts.

Fiddler crabs from two different beaches, where the times of high or low tides are different, will obey the tide chart for their own beaches, though living far from home.

They show a 24-hour change for the sun cycle, a 12½-hour change for the tide cycle. In tide, they are obeying a moon or lunar cycle, for the moon is a main controller of earth's tides.

Is their biological clock something which is built-in, running at constant speed according to metabolism or the speed of their life cycles? Or is it governed by physical forces connected with the earth's rotation, perhaps by some force which man doesn't yet know can affect living things?

Dr. Brown subjected the crabs to different degrees of temperature. An astonishing thing happened if he chilled them down to near freezing for six hours, then warmed them up again. The chilling stopped their clocks for six hours. When they were warmed up again, they began following the same cycles of regular change—but now they were nearly six hours slow!

That makes it look as though their clocks are built inside. But that's by no means the full strange story.

Not long ago one of Dr. Brown's assistants flew to San Francisco with a batch of crabs, and put them in a room there with constant light and temperature. Another batch was packed up the same way for travel, but kept here and placed in the same kind of room. Those flown to the West Coast became three hours late in time—and in all physical forces connected with the earth's rotation—compared with those remaining here.

On the first day, the crabs on both coasts changed colors at exactly the same time according to dawn and dusk, and tidal changes here.

The next day, the crabs in San Francisco slipped a half hour behind their East Coast "cousins."

But this was only temporary. During the next seven days while they stayed in California, they continued to get dark or light almost simultaneously with the crabs in Woods Hole.

They didn't adjust their "clocks" to the West Coast, and while they stayed in California, they kept on signaling the time of low tide on their native beach on Cape Cod.

This proved they could still measure the 12½-hour tide cycle and 24-hour sun cycle accurately even though they had been flown to the West Coast and had, by flying, changed by three hours in sunlight time—the same gain your watch would show if you flew from East to West.

In the long run their clocks may be influenced by outside forces, Dr. Brown believes. He is devising experiments to learn the possible influence of slight barometric changes, differences in gravitation, even differences in cosmic ray radiation, to which all living things are exposed.

Oysters show a similar kind of rhythm, opening their shells the most at high tide. New Haven oysters shipped to Evanston, Ill., opened most for a couple of weeks at the time of high tide in the New Haven area. Later they slipped out of the New Haven tidal time, and became influenced by Evanston lunar time.

Some kind of harmonics or vibrations definitely seem to affect these biological clocks, Dr. Brown believes. Earthworms, salamanders, fruit flies, and even potatoes give evidence of having biological clocks. The lowly potato, for example, shows daily and lunar rhythms of oxygen consumption. When kept under steady temperature and light, they show, on the average, a high peak of oxygen consumption at 6 a.m. and 3 p.m. in the daily cycle.

Breeding cycles dictated by the moon or other influence are vital for preservation of numerous forms of marine animals, whose males release their sperm and females release their eggs into the water. Unless great numbers of

they do this at the same time—as they do—there would be little chance that sperm and egg would meet to start new life.

Rhythms and cycles are observed in many kinds of human behavior, even in economic cycles. Mental patients are reported to show swings of improvement or worsening with phases of the moon. Is it really the moon affecting them? Do the rhythms in human behavior have any connection with biological clocks of some kind? If so, how do they operate, how are they controlled?

The studies of clocks in crabs and other animals can lead to answers.

Could the answers show man how to gain new controls over his own life, perhaps by developing powers which he once had or is only dimly aware of? That is speculation, which must await more scientific findings about biological clocks.

Ohio Statehood Fuss Labeled Unnecessary

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—A Wittenberg College history professor says all the fuss and bother of admitting Ohio to the Union last year was unnecessary because Ohio was as legitimate as any other state admitted to the Union before 1812.

An act was passed by Congress last year (Ohio's sesquicentennial year) admitting the Buckeye State.

But Dr. Benjamin H. Pershing says before 1812, when Louisiana was admitted, Congress had not set a precedent as to how a state should be admitted. He maintains Ohio did become a state in 1803 according to policies then followed.

Writing in the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Quarterly, Dr. Pershing says time and again Congress passed resolutions and ordinances promising admission of new states. "But nothing was prescribed as to the specific manner in which Congress was to act," he declares.

Residents of Ohio formed a state government and a constitution and after a convention in Chillicothe on Nov. 1, 1802, sought admission to the Union.

On Jan. 7, 1803, the Senate adopted a motion that a committee be appointed to inquire what legislative means, if any, may be necessary for admitting Ohio.

"The report of that committee presented on Jan. 19 would presumably answer the question whether any action was ever taken by Congress to admit Ohio into the Union," Dr. Pershing says.

He said the committee's resolution became the official act of the reception of Ohio as a state after adoption by the Senate, acceptance by the House of Representatives and signed by President Jefferson.

Junior Lions Schedule Games; Need Uniforms

Coach Dan Leggett, releasing the 1954 Junior Lions football schedule, had a highly unusual complaint. Leggett's problem is that there are so many boys interested in playing on the Washington C. H. Junior High School team that he and Coach Bill McCullough haven't enough uniforms to go around. It's a pleasant problem to have, but it's still a problem.

"On Monday, we completed the equipment issue," Leggett said. "By that, I mean we ran 2 Sharp Fillies Slated To Start In 'Brown Jug'."

DELAWARE (P)—Two 3-year-old pacing fillies earned nominations for Thursday's $70,000 Little Brown Jug yesterday as a week of Grand Circuit activity opened at the Delaware Fair.

Phantom Lady, owned by Walnut Hall Farm of Donerail, Ky., won the second heat of the Walnut Hall Farm Stake in 2:01.2 to lower the former record of 2:01.4 set by Tassel Hanover in 1950.

But she did not set her new mark until after she had been up in the first heat by My Scotch Belle who went the distance in 2:02.3. My Scotch Belle carries the colors of the Castleton Farm.

Both fillies are certain starters in the Little Brown Jug, their trainers said after the race.

The horses did not return for the runoff heat by mutual agreement of the owners and Phantom Lady was declared the winner on the basis of her faster time.

Boosters Club Meeting All Set

WHS Coaching Staff To Tell Of Plans

Election of new officers, which was postponed at last week's meeting, probably will be held by the Boosters Club at its meeting at 7:30 P. M. Wednesday at the Cherry Hotel.

Father Richard J. Connelly is chairman of the nominating committee that will make the report it had ready for last week's meeting but withheld for a week because the turnout was not up to expectations. Nominations also may be made from the floor.

Only two officers are to be chosen—president and secretary. Don Gibson was the past year's president and Perse Harlow the secretary.

Harlow said a sizeable turnout was expected at Wednesday night's meeting because of the increasing membership. More than 50 new members signed up at the football opener here last Friday night.

Motion pictures were taken of the Lion-Panther game last Friday night and if the films get back from the laboratory, they will be shown at the Boosters Club meeting.

THE COACHING staff will be at the meeting, too. Headed by Athletic Director Bob Shaw, they are Jim Lipinski and Ed Dean of the Varsity and Dan Leggett and Bill McCullough who are handling the big pack of Lion Cubs.

This meeting also may be the time and the place for presenting an opportunity to the so-called downtown coaches. Because of the size of the Cub squad, Shaw said Leggett and McCullough could use some help.

It was considered likely that the Boosters would be asked to volunteer to go down on the field and help teach football to some of the youngsters who in a few years will be the WHS Varsity Lions.

The Cubs practice every afternoon at the public park on Millikan Avenue.

The Cubs have a six-game schedule of games with other schools this fall and are rarin' to go.

The interest is so great among the Cubs and the turnout so big that the school ran out of equipment for them.

Wilmington's Star Wins Lush Pace

WILMINGTON, Del. (P)—Adios Boy, a heavy favorite, was disqualified and placed second here last night after finishing a neck in front in the $15,000 Good Time Invitation Pace.

Wilmington's Star, owned by R. L. Craig of Urbana, Ohio, was placed first.

Welterweight List Shaken Up

NEW YORK (P)—The welterweight rankings were due for a shakeup today following upset victories scored last night by unranked Hector Constance and Luther Rawlings over members of the top ten in television tussles.

Constance, a 26-year-old sharpshooter from Trinidad, won a split 10-round decision over 1-3 favored Chico Varona, fourth ranking 147-pounder from Cuba.

Rawlings, a one-time leading lightweight from Chicago, stopped 10th ranking Frankie Fernandez of Honolulu in 2:29 of the second round. The veteran Hawaiian was a 5-11 choice.

out of uniforms. We are short approximately 35 complete uniforms—from shoes to helmets."

Leggett and McCullough plan to take the matter up with Athletic Director Bob Shaw, hoping they will be able to issue uniforms to their entire squad of 96 boys.

If Shaw can somehow conjure up the rest of the uniforms for the Juniors, another problem will still remain. Leggett and McCullough aren't complaining, but a ratio of two coaches to nearly 100 boys will make it tough for them.

Coach Shaw suggests that this may be a chance for the "downtown coaches" to help out. "I wish some of the men who know football would go over and help with the junior high school boys," he said. Leggett and McCullough would welcome their help, too.

It won't be long before all the problems facing Leggett and McCullough come to a head. The first game, with Wilmington, is just over a week off.

The entire schedule, to be played Thursdays, is as follows:

Sept. 30 Wilmington	Home
Oct. 7 Mt. Sterling	Away
Oct. 14 Greenfield	Away
Oct. 21 Hillsboro	Home
Oct. 28 Greenfield	Home
Nov. 4 West Jefferson	Home

Bums Ponder Reasons For Their Collapse

BROOKLYN (P)—It was all over, even the shouting. The victorious Giants, a jubilant crew of merry-makers, had long since departed after celebrating their pennant victory.

There was not much life in the Brooklyn clubhouse either, although a group of Dodgers were still sitting around, trying to put the pieces together. It was so quiet you could hear a penant drop.

Walter Alston, the freshman manager, sat silently in a chair, dejected and still bewildered.

As if suddenly aware that he was expected to say something, Alston looked around and began to talk.

"It wasn't just one thing," he murmured. "It was a combination of things. It wasn't Campanella alone. We might have won despite Roy's bad hand. But Furillo didn't start to hit until mid-season. Newcombe never did get started. Evers failed to take up the slack. Oh, so many things. We just didn't play good ball."

In another corner, Peeewe Reese, the team captain, said, "They're a fine ball club. They deserved to win. We gave it all we had but it wasn't enough."

Carl Furillo, Gil Hodges and one or two others of the ex-champions echoed Reese's sentiments but one who refused to console himself was Roy Campanella.

"Nobody hurt the team more than I did," he growled. "Imagine hitting 200. I should have done better even with one hand."

Earlier, President Walter J. O'Malley had gathered the players together and told them "this has been a rugged season."

"I feel sorry for you and sorry for the fans," he said, "particularly because it was the Giants who beat us, and sorry for Alston. I don't feel the team did as well as it should have done, but let's wrap it up and get ready for next year. Go home and have a good winter."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
